End of the Rainbow Alternatives was purchased by Sandra Webber with a lot of help from Shirley Bourgault when former owners, George & Gloria Pillsbury, were ready to retire. The plan was for Shirley to buy it from Sandra when she learned a bit more about the business. The main focus of the store for the new owner was helping improve health issues with supplements.

In 2008 and with the slump in the economy Shirley decided the business needed to be in a bigger location with more to offer. This is when they moved to the Falls Road location. Sandra has stayed on as a massage therapist and reflexologist. We recommend that everyone should stop in to see what she offers, helping the body heal through reflexology. Theresa Dame who is a cosmetologist also pitches in and would love to see her business grow doing facials and skin consultations.

Many people have issues such as psoriasis or seasonal depression and to help with these issues they have a tanning bed. End of the Rainbow Alternatives also has just added an infrared sauna, a great way to detox through sweating. Classes are offered as well, with the hopes of expanding options as interest increases.

As shopping online has increased greatly, product lines have to keep up with new trends. Along with vitamins, supplements, and homeopathic flower essences, there is a large selection of essential oils, ingredients and containers for those that are making their own products. Ingredients can be purchased in bulk or by the ounce.

Shirley is always looking for products on the healthier and safer side. This includes purchasing products from Badger skin care located in NH, New Chapter of VT, My Berry Organics, owned by Becky from Farmington and CBD products and chaga skin care products both from Newport, Maine. They also have a selection of very comfortable sandals by Okabashi that are USA-made from recycled materials along with hair care, skin care and mineral makeup. Continuing to add products that are made in Maine is high on the priority list.

Shirley tries to stay informed of new findings that help your body stay in or return to its best health. The body is designed to heal but often gets off track with our hectic lifestyles so visit End of the Rainbow Alternatives at 249 Farmington Falls Rd, Farmington for all of your health-related needs. While you are there you may want to have some freshly-brewed tea or try hanging on the inversion table. Call (207) 778-2884 for more information.
